

Manual for Community Rights in Research: Collaborative Research Capacity for Community-Based Organizations

TECHNOLOGY NUMBER: 2024-010

OVERVIEW

A training program aimed at helping to build the capacity of community organizations engaging in collaborative community health research and to ensure that research partnerships are equitable.

- Contains all necessary workshop materials, including: a customizable presentation, facilitator instructions, participant activities, and supplies lists.
- Freely available under Creative Commons CC BY-NC-SA.

BACKGROUND

The goal of this training workshop is to help build the capacity of community organizations to engage in collaborative research to improve health in their community, and to ensure that research partnerships are equitable. This is achieved through instructions for them to put on a customizable workshop for community partners.

The training manual is composed of a document outlining all the parts of the program, a 3-part workshop slide deck, facilitator instructions and all of the training materials needed during the workshop, as well as a list of supplies.

Part one of the workshop focuses on defining research and identifying ways in which research partnerships may be useful for an organization. Part two focuses on establishing equitable community-academic partnerships. Part three focuses on community-based participatory research, a collaborative partnership approach. The workshop also has several activities for participants to work through and explore for their community organization.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Copyright notice: ©2022 The Regents of the University of Michigan

Created by Chris Coombe, J. Ricardo Guzman, Barbara Israel, Angela Reyes, Zachary Rowe, Amy Schulz, and Crystal White - detroiturc.org

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International License. CC BY-NC-SA.

Technology ID

2024-010

Category

Content

Software & Content

Author(s)

Amy Schulz

Angela Reyes

Barbara Israel

Cheryl Coombe

Crystal White

J. Ricardo Guzman

Zachary Rowe

Further information

Tina Suntres

tsuntres@umich.edu

Learn more

Questions: Additional information can be found on the Detroit Community-Academic Urban Research Center website - detroiturc.org

For questions on the Manual for Community Rights in Research, you may contact Mary Beth Damm, Detroit Community-Academic Urban Research Center Manager at damm@umich.edu

The Team would also love to hear feedback on your use of the program and ways it could be improved.

References

1. Chris Coombe, J. Ricardo Guzman, Barbara Israel, Angela Reyes, Zachary Rowe, Amy Schulz, and Crystal White , The Manual for Community Rights in Research was created by faculty at the University of Michigan School of Public Health, Health Behavior & Health Education Department and with community partners from the Detroit Hispanic Development Corporation, Friends of Parkside, Neighborhood Services Organization, and CHASS Center.